

Randolph High School and P.G. Chambers School Open New Collaborative High School Program

High School is an important time in a student's life. It is a time when life-long friendships develop, independent thinking and community responsibility mature, and transition to adulthood is nurtured. For students with multiple disabilities, there are few opportunities to work on all these skills in an appropriate high school environment. To ensure that all students reach their full potential and engage fully in their community, Randolph High School and P.G. Chambers School are excited to announce the opening of a Collaborative High School Program for Students with Multiple Disabilities.

The new, inclusive high school collaborative program will be located in Randolph High School and blend the unique capabilities of Randolph High School and P.G. Chambers School. The public school program will feature an adapted curriculum to enhance real life applications, frequent opportunities for inclusion in general education whenever appropriate, a comprehensive related services program, and extensive use of assistive technology.

The goals of the Collaborative High School Program for Students with Multiple Disabilities are to:

1. Expand placement options for students in Northern New Jersey
2. Integrate students academically and socially
3. Combine the best of public and private schools
4. Challenge students academically
5. Provide high quality related services
6. Incorporate advanced assistive technology

The Collaborative High School Program at Randolph High School is set to open for high school students with multiple disabilities for the 2018-2019 school year. The ESY program will run from July 9th to August 2nd. For more information, or to set up a visit, please contact Walter Curioni or Kristin Young.
